A multinational communications and networking firm enlisted Vega to design and install audiovisual solutions for various conference and meeting rooms at their Hong Kong office.

The client's request included several meeting rooms with audiovisual presentation facilities, a video wall, and a network operations center with audiovisual equipment.

By working closely with the client and analyzing the requirements Vega was able to provide and implement a unique and suitable solution at the company's office. Vega equipped the meeting rooms with Epson projectors and Promethean ActivBoards for an immersive and interactive presentation environment. Numerous projectors were used for the network operations center to enable the staff to monitor and manage the network operations in real-time. Vega also developed an audiovisual solution for the canteen area which included an Epson projector, a screen and JTS speakers.

Moreover Vega planned and equipped a conference room with presentation facilities and installed a broadcast system and linked it with the canteen area as per the requirements of the client.
