Solution

Vega was commissioned to provide Peninsula Hotel Hong Kong with a complete audio visual solution for their training room, Vega coordinated with the project architect, MEP engineer, furniture supplier and general contractor. This included a thorough needs analysis to initiate design direction and AV architectural drawing development. Vega worked in parallel with the architect's development of interiors and environmental considerations to ensure all client specifications would be met.

The Training Room features two 120" projection screens, and high power projectors. Presentation sources include high definition computer video and Blu-ray player. The system features a combine mode which can allow user to have a larger room space to perform different functions.

A custom programmed, 4" touch panel embedded in the wall, can permit, allow users to easily conduct meetings through the use of intuitive menus.
